MONTEVIDEO

Special Telegram.

The funeral of the widow of General Flores took place this morning and was attended by the President and representatives of all the important families, numbering over 1000 persons and nearly 200 carriages.

No political news.

Obras at 32 to 31, other stocks improving, National Bank closed 107½, Amortizable 40½, Cedulas 70¾, all for end of April; the liquidation is expected to pass without trouble. General business rather quiet; saladeros unusually dull.

(From the Interior.)

Mendoza, 27th—Governor Juarez and party arrived here this morning and were welcomed as warmly as possible. Governor Juarez is staying with Governor Guinazu. A great scandal was caused on the arrival of the illustrious guests. A professor of the National College struck a discordant note in the general enthusiasm by calling out "Abajo el Presidente" and "abajo" all the local authorities. Then an armed group of men wearing ponchos attacked the house in which Lieutenant Paz, governor of Tierra del Fuego, and other persons had gone in search of lodgings. Revolver shots were fired and stones thrown and there was a tremendous row, but nobody was hurt and the assailants decamped.

THE WESTERN RAILWAY.

The die is cast! Governor Paz and his Ministers have thrown out the tender of Messrs. S. B. Hale and Co. to purchase the Western Railway for the round amount of 35 millions. This policy of the La Plata Government is the outcome of the public clamour against the sale of the line, for the Governor and his Ministers are convinced that the Western Railway is not worth a dollar more than the offer of Messrs. Hale. We shall not venture to assert that the La Plata Government have committed a grave error in making such a concession to public opinion, and we leave to time, say the next six months, to settle any doubts in this regard. Affairs may improve unexpectedly, and the Western Railway may be worth much more next August than in the present month of March: the rolling stock, permanent way, and other works of the railway may not deteriorate and the railway's lands may rise one hundred-fold in value: in fact, the present crisis may blow away, and a grateful province may erect statues to Governor Paz for refusing to sell the line. But should the crisis continue or grow more intense; should the railway go from bad to worse; should its lands, now worth next to nothing, fall to zero; should, well, we shall not go on. What then? Simply this, that the refusal of Messrs. Hale's bid was the most egregious of errors and the public will not forgive Governor Paz for not seeing ahead and getting rid of the line.

Another important consideration is the critical state of La Plata finances. The sale of the Western line at the present junction would have materially helped to tide over an awkward situation; how this feat is to be managed, now that the sale of the line is postponed till August, is a riddle that must be solved in a very few days. We greatly fear, after all, that Government have acted foolishly in rejecting the Hale offer. The fatal step has been taken and there is no going back on it for the next six months—precious time lost in these moments of crisis. Meantime, we append the decree of the Government:—

The following is the decree—

La Plata, March 28 1890

In view of the results of the bids for the purchase of the state-railways, opened on March 18, and considering (1) that in the decree of December 16, 1889, the Executive determined the conditions for the presentation of tenders, which act was surrounded with every guarantee for the interests of the state, a committee having been appointed to take the inventory of the lines and a special office having been opened to supply all data required by the public and those interested; (2) that the Executive is desirous of allowing a fresh opportunity for the presentation of bids, in order to give greater guarantee to the interests of the state, by allowing more time for competition; and by virtue of the power conferred by decree of December 16 ulto., the Executive

DECREES.

Art. 1.—The bids presented are hereby rejected, and fresh ones called for under the above-mentioned decree, for the 14th August, of the current year,

Art. 2.—The deposits made by the bidders shall be returned to them.

Art. 3.—Let this be communicated., etc.

LA PLATA PORT REFLECTIONS.

The opening to-day of the magnificent and useless port of La Plata, which we hope will be the last link in the chain of political blunders of the Province, is certain to be seized as an occasion to sing paeans in honor of the "men of genius" who conceived the idea and laid the foundation-stone of the sumptuous capital. The magnificence of La Plata and its Port is only equalled by the extravagance which has stamped its impress on every street and building of the place. The visitor stands aghast at the monumental proportions of the foundations of the proposed Cathedral, designed, we believe, to rival or surpass that of Milan. The architects of La Plata forget that cathedrals like Milan's are built with such material as piety, and that good intentions are used for paving purposes in certain warm regions. The streets are wide enough to accommodate the traffic of two cities like Buenos Ayres, and gaslight was not deemed sufficiently strong to dispel the obscurity of night and thus facilitate a traffic of which we have not yet seen even the symptom of a beginning. A noble port has been constructed, regardless of expense, for a vast shipping-trade concealed by the dark veil of the future. The cart-before-the-horse system is beautifully illustrated in La Plata, and it is truly a wonder the men of genius who founded the city did not begin building houses from the chimneys. Little did we dream, when the first sod of the new city was turned, that it was the first sod of a grave in which we have buried millions of money, and in which we are likely to bury many more. The results of the cart-before-the-horse system and the unbounded extravagance that followed in the wake of the avalanche of Cedulas cannot have escaped the penetration of the patriots who founded this city, in which they do not even reside, probably with a view to take a calmer survey of this monumental work of enthusiastic folly. The splendor of the blunder still dazzles the judgment, but it is being tackled o'er by the pale cast of thought, and people, who have no lawsuits pending or hold no Cedulas, are beginning to feel that the existence of this financial mælstrom must have had some influence, pernicious, to say the least, on the sea of prosperity in which we were all navigating up to a few months ago. And those who have lawsuits pending, who hold Cedulas, and who are familiar with the pale glare of the electric light and the splendid spectacle of the public buildings in La Plata—what do they think of this enchanted city and its absent founders? Yes, let us all join in the chorus of praises of the genius of the founders, over whom in this hour of distress there must steal a conviction that too much ambition, too little political foresight, are dangerous when in touch with uncontrolled sources of revenue.

If the measure of a statesman's ability be the amount of money he spends, then surely every one will admit that for men of genius Argentina brooks no rival, not excepting the ancient Athens with its classic phalanx of celebrities. Lord Mayor Seeber would stand alone, the Napoleon in his line of business, and it would be difficult to find a limit for the genius of the non-resident founders of La Plata.

If the superabundant genius of provincial statesmen could be tempered with a timely admixture of solemn mediocrity and common sense, the dullness of which we all despise, perhaps the opening of the La Plata Port or the cutting of the Cordoba canal might be delayed, in order to allow the trade of the country to grow and furnish a sound fundation for what to-day is but a baseless fabric.

That species of genius, however, is too common. It is of the self-made kind and is ever the predecessor of the stern, genuine and priceless genius that springs from commotion and tribulation and redresses the evils of the moment. The ability of a statesman is made of sterner stuff, and room must be made for men whose talent will lie not in spending, but in saving and accumulating. The vices of mismanagement must be rooted out and superseded by surplus in the budget and other modern virtues without which no nation will be allowed to pass the golden gates of prosperity.

These are sombre reflections on so gay an occasion as the opening of a splendid port. A glance at the quotations of Cedulas, the amount issued, the estimated profits accruing from the sales of public lands, and other interesting items will give many people an inclination to indulge in a laugh, a nervous one though. Cedulas are now worth fifty per cent, and the state of debility of the patient is so extreme that another galvanic shock, while fanning the dying spark for a second or two, would be rapidly followed by extinction. The Mortgage Bank requires more than a million of money every quarter. Where is that money to come from? From the Provincial Bank, perhaps, to which the La Plata Government owes twenty-two millions of dollars? This is an agonising condition. The sale of the railway would have a galvanic effect. The ultimate stage of this evolution is by no means pleasing to contemplate, and, no doubt, the enemies of La Plata would exult, if it were not pitiful, in this rapid fall from the pinnacle of greatness and extravagance. La Plata was intended for a city and it has never been anything but a workshop of Cedulas, with which the new port could be filled and reclaimed.

THE GOVERNMENT AND THE GUARANTEED RAILWAYS.

Government is evidently determined to take the guaranteed railways in hand, as will be seen by the appended decree which was issued last evening. We omit the preamble, which is extremely lengthy. The decree runs as follows:—

Art. 1st—The Executive shall name an interventor for every guaranteed railway This interventor to be under the N. R. Board.

Art. 2—Independently of the instructions which he may receive from the N.R. Board, the interventor shall: 1st Draw up, in anticipation, every six months and in agreement with the manager or representative of the Railway, the estimates of the salaries and working expenses for the following half-year, which estimates duly signed shall be laid before the National Railway Board for approval; (2) Inspect the books and see that the returns be not sunk in expenses not figuring in the estimates and that the expenses shall not exceed the determined limits; (3) See that the company observe the tariff in force and demand from the company the reimbursement of any sum unduly spent; (4) Examine the accounts presented by the company for the payment of the guarantee and see that these accounts correspond with the traffic of the line and with the estimated expenditure; (5) See that in accordance with the Decree of February 29th, 1888, the company hand to the National Exchequer the surplus returns and that the fourth paragraph of the first Article of the said Decree be observed.

Art. 3rd—Whenever there shall be any difference between the Interventor and the Manager, Administrator or representative of any Railway Company, a report of such difference shall be drawn up and signed by both parties and shall be laid before the N. R. Board who will adjudicate upon the matter; if their decision be against the Railway, the latter will be entitled to appeal to the Minister of the Interior.

Art. 4th—The Inspectors of the N. R. Board are to give all such information and particulars to the Interventor as he may request for the purpose of the fulfilment of his duties.

Art. 5th—The entire guarantee on all railways is to be paid on the 1st January and 1st July in each year on the presentation of the accounts properly audited and countersigned by the Company in accordance with clause 2 article 1 of the decree of the 29th February 1888 and if from an examination of the accounts it appears that the amount to be received by the treasury is larger than the total handed over by the Company, the N. R. Board shall require the immediate payment of the difference, and if this be not paid, such difference together with interest shall be deducted from the guarantee.

Art. 6—If the guarantee be suspended by the failure of the Railway Company to keep up the rolling-stock fixed by law, the amount necessary for the acquisition of such rolling-stock shall be deposited and shall be considered as part-payment of the guarantee; the balance shall then be paid over to the company.

Art. 7—The Ministers of Interior and of Finance shall take all steps necessary to provide the amounts of the guarantees on the dates fixed by Art. 5.

Art. 8—The salaries of the Interventors shall be fixed by the Government and must be considered as expenses and shall be included in the Company's accounts and shall be placed by the Company before the N. R Board who will pay the same.

Art. 9—This decree will be communicated to the Companies holding Government guarantees and to the Argentine Minister in London for publication.

Art. 10—By virtue of this decree the suspension of the guarantee on the East Argentine Railway now ceases and payment will be made.

Art. 11—Let this be communicated etc.

UNSOUND MONEY.

London, Feb. 24th

A depreciated currency, as in the case of Austria, is bad, but a currency that fluctuates 5 per cent or even more in one month is, after war or pestilence, the worst curse that can befall a country. Latest advices from Buenos Ayres shew that the gold quotation has rebounded from 213 to 224, a difference of 5 per cent, the effects of which cannot fail to be most injurious to trade and to the working-classes. Nevertheless, the "laissez-faire" policy seems triumphant, and nobody thinks any more of returning to specie payments or putting the currency on a sound footing. I am free to admit that tinkering with the currency would be still worse, or any attempt by the Government to cause the premium to rise or fall. But I have no doubt that, sooner or later, the force of events will compel the Republic to fix the currency, by converting the present notes, say at 50, or 40, or 30 per cent of their nominal value.

The fact that immigration or agriculture frozen mutton or Cedulas are on the increase argues little or nothing against the serious malady that afflicts the Argentine Republic. Money is the life-blood of commerce and industry of every kind, and when it is unsound the whole system suffers. A man may be dying of cancer, and yet his ordinary health and appetite be excellent. Therefore, you must not deceive yourselves by supposing that as other things are going on most prosperously the rottenness of the currency is a matter of secondary importance. Numbers of people will perhaps still tell you "the more paper-money we have the better, for each fresh issue enriches 100 individuals, and therefore the community is enriched." This is a fallacy that ought to have been exploded long ago. There is no road to honest wealth but industry, and no Acts of Congress or omissions of paper-money can add a dollar to national wealth.

The worst of the Argentine currency in its present state is that you are on an inclined plane, and cannot stand still. You must have one or two fresh issues of shinplasters every year in one form or other. This is the experience of the last 5 years, in which the currency has been quadrupled, and the inevitable law of the future. Either bank-notes or Cedulas; perhaps both.

The more fresh paper-money the greater the depreciation, and loss of purchasing medium; hence another issue. This must some day reach a climax, as with the French Assignats, and then the country will have a "mauvais quart d'heure".

When the "Wild Cat" crisis occurred in the United States in 1837, no fewer than 690 banks closed their doors in one month. In the following year the country was ostracised on a sound footing till the civil war of 1862 brought another period of confusion. Most of the Free Banks in the Argentine Republic will have to close their doors in a few years, and the result will be a signal blessing. Some means may be devised this year or next year to replenish their coffers, but the auctioneer's hammer will be the "ultima ratio" with most of them.

The currency disease is complicated in the Argentine Republic by reason of these State Banks. Upon this subject Mr. Inglis Palgrave, the well-known economist, gave some instructive lessons in a recent lecture which he delivered at the Institute of Bankers. He said—

"Government banks are most pernicious, because dangerous pressure may at any moment be brought to bear on the Government to lend money to persons to whom it ought not to be lent".

Therefore the welfare of the community demands that Congress should make no efforts to bolster up such banks, but leave them to their fate. A great outcry will, doubtless, arise from the Upper Provinces, to the effect that wide-spread ruin will befall the estancieros and sugar-growers, the Centros Agricolas and other patriotic enterprises, unless a fresh issue of ten, twenty or forty million shinplasters be distributed among them. Congress will probably accede to the demand, the paper dollar will decline to 30 cents, afterwards to 20 cents, and men will go to their graves with the idea that it is only a passing depreciation, that the currency will right itself, and that, after all, no matter how much paper-money be at large, the country is none the poorer. In such a state of the public mind it is difficult to see even a silver lining to the cloud. But, better times will succeed. The nation will awake from its folly.

LADIES' LETTER.

Paris, March 4th, 1890.

Those real almanacs—milliners—do not raise spirits, even by a hint of what their spring marvels will be. Indeed, the majority of persons are more tied to chemists than to any other kind of shops. Sickness reigns still: impossible to shake off the influenza epidemic till the arrival of spring, is the general and resigned conviction. Judge how the coming of that smiling nymph is sighed for. In the meantime we have to fight easterly winds, to stay within doors in self-defence, and to read for consolation the obituary columns of the papers. Happy the mortals who can winter in Egypt, as Cairo is rapidly superseding the Riviera. Besides, Cairo is now really Anglo-Saxon, which does not detract from it as a health station. It is also cheaper as a residence. It never has frost or snow, like Nice, and is not so far away as Madeira. A friend writes me, that before two years the villa residences building in the vicinity of Cairo, with their gardens, and pleasure grounds, will convert the neighbourhood into an English town. Then, Anglo-American shops are being opened, so all the comforts of a home will be at hand. The coming new French law, requiring all foreign doctors practicing in France to be re-examined for a French diploma, will drive English and American doctors out of the country; and they will pitch their tents in rival "Rest-lands."

Although the severities of Lent have been relaxed, the concession does not appear to have affected society in the way of stimulating amusements. The snow, frost and easterly winds have next to killed the season at Nice. Then, the word has gone round that during 1890 retrenchment must be the order of the day, to enable the extra outlay of the Exhibition year to be repaired. Dinners are more limited, and, where given, the hostess has clearly Economy at the table. There is a tendency to rely on soirees in place of balls, and many ladies content themselves with five o'clock teas and reduced dinners to balance incumbent social obligations.

Political feelings run so high, that society is being driven into sharply defined sets. No neutral saloon now exists. This is a drawback for resident foreigners, who, as a rule, wish a plague on all the political houses. It does more; the very best of French society, that which abstains from politics, tends more and more to live retiredly, so as to avoid party mixtures and all the "ennui" such produce. Apropos of the five o'clock teas—where tea is gradually, but surely, disappearing, for light liqueurs or ladies' wines—gentlemen hitherto opposed to them are at present coming round to like these gatherings. It is a latent war against the club. Besides, the plan of placing tables, here and there, in the drawing room, where three or four intimate friends can sit and gossip, is more genial than forcing visitors to be seated in rows or groups, to receive their afternoon refreshment like Sunday school children or the feeding of the five thousand. It is a capital occasion for ladies to show off toilettes, pretty hands, sparkling jewelry and nice fitting gloves.

There is a marked falling-off in chamber concerts this Lent. The cynical say this is the consequence of professional musicians having "boycotted" fashionable ladies, who drew on them too freely for gratuitous services for their evenings at home. In exchange, these ladies, when the artiste organised his benefit Lenten concert, undertook to dispose of his tickets among their friends and acquaintances. However, the barter was considered to partake too much of the Irishman's reciprocity—all on the one side. Another plague has stepped into the peace of the vacated custom, that of wealthy or upper crust people composing symphonic odes, "musical seances," etc., and inflicting on people the duty of sitting out their "execution." But it is the season of penitence, and the suffering may whittle down a little of the Christian's burden that all life pilgrims have to carry.

How milliners and dressmakers obtain the payment of their bills has always been a mystery. The conduct of Georges Hugo, the wild grandson of the poet, lets in some light. Some of the lady outfitting establishments would not be strangers to usury. Victor Hugo, when he died, left a fortune—all in English and Belgian funds—of three million francs. The annual sale of his books brings in 50,000 frs. His only daughter, Adèle, now an aged lady and a lunatic, inherits half his fortune; the other half is divided between his two grand-children, Georges and Jeanne, who have infant niches in his poetry. Georges, who is a complete nullity, leads the life of a man upon town; he arrived at his majority in August last. He wanted money; a manu-maker undertook to find a little, if Hugo would pay 30,000 frs, the price of a fur-trimmed mantle, supplied to a demi-mondian whom he "protected". Hugo obtained 80,000 frs cash, by acknowledging indebtedness for six times that sum; and out of this cash he paid the [illegible] the trial will disclose the shifts and ruses that fast fashionables have recourse to in order to keep afloat.

Nothing is so supremely ridiculous as the habit some awfully polite Frenchmen have, to hold their hat in their hand when speaking to a lady in the street, while the gentleman who accompanies the lady keeps his on his head. The Hungarian dandies decline henceforth to take off their hats in the open air, when saluting a lady; a coryza, a raw throat, or home influenza, being too high a fee to exact for such gallantry. At French funerals, the immediate male relatives of the deceased, irrespective of age, follow the hearse on foot, bare-headed, no matter how inclement the weather. I often thought that the undertakers ought to supply, in the name of humanity, procession skull caps. When Louis XIV. promenaded in the grounds of Versailles, the courtiers carried their lace and feather three-cornered hats under their arm. Thus only his Majesty was head-covered. I have somewhere read of a country where the highest decoration is the order of the "Tall Hat". It would be a mercy to confer that decoration on Frenchmen, who, besides, are proverbial in their love for decorations.

The latest distraction provided for ladies is an invitation to the Show room, on finishing days, at the leading dress-makers and milliners. Here the latest ward-robe glories are exhibited, before being packed up and despatched to the happy owners, whose names are, of course kept—a stage secret. Thus is disposed of the old error, that ladies never like to disclose the address of their outfitter. These gathering are far more numerously attended than Picture Shows. Indeed we have such a plethora of the latter, that love for art must suffer. And next May, instead of the usual one Picture Exhibition or Salon, we shall have three.

Dr. Marechal alleges that he is inundated with demands from ladies, to prescribe for them the required dose of arsenic, necessary to bring to their cheeks the fresh tint of the rose, and to the body a relative volume of plumpness. Arsenicophagism is not so rare a habit as might be supposed. It imparts a supple, pyelvety, shining skin to horses, with the appearance of fatness. The mountainous peasantry of Austria take a small dose of arsenic every morning before breaking their fast. This gives them greater power of endurance and length of respiration. Arsenic is good for the asthmatic. We all suffer from shortness of breath once in our career; if ladies eat arsenic only as a preventive against that, the vice would be comprehensible, while being quite as useless as a perfect cure.

It is now becoming the custom at wedding breakfasts to have an orchestra concealed "a la Wagner", but behind shrubs and flowers to discourse appropriate music during the repast. It is also usual to execute a few airs known to be favorites with the grand-fathers and grand-mothers of the happy couple. The programme of music should not include any lengthy "morceau", and ought to be infinite in its variety.

Will the French ever adopt the Anglo-Saxon mode of announcing births, marriages and deaths—by newspaper? In the case of the first the habit is for the husband to issue a letter announcing that his wife has been happily accouchée of a son, or daughter. Unstarchy people arrange that baby itself announces its arrival, that mamma is in good health, and that papa unites in the happiness. To the cards of the parents is attached, by a bit of rose ribbon, the fairy card of the little stranger with name thereon. Beyond this all would be fantastical. Balls lead to matrimony, and thus to nursery usages.

Many ball dresses are in sapphire velvet with white China crape, and having Pompadour flowers. The corsage is pointed, low bodice, and of V shape, with no sleeves; train, long and square; bows of velvet on the shoulder: long Swedish gloves. For young people pale rose crape is a ball dress material in favour. Other stuffs:—Two shades of heliotrope velvet, or blue velvet and white lace.

Demi-season toilettes are in beige and otter velvet, and walking dresses are in woollen material trimmed with black braid: the cloth jacket worn with the dress fits the figure, and the basques have buttons. Robes are remarkable, not so much by simplicity of shape, as by the embroidery of their tissue; every variety of flower enters into the combination—I might almost say the design. Spring dresses will be in sea-blue woollen, with black velvet trimming, and jacket in plain cloth; a pretty spring costume can be composed of Lettuce-green woollen and a Scotch silk. There is also silk, color Eiffel Tower, trimmed with black passementerie, which makes up a pretty spring dress.

Hats are in Chantilly lace and jet, with lace bow, bunch of roses in front and garland of myosotis; also in black lace, lined with rose faille with bow of rose velvet ribbon under the hair. Town hats are in black velvet, having wide border and black feathers. Capotes are in blue crape; plume of black feathers leaning to the front; strings, black velvet ribbon.

Jewellery is very extensively worn; even girls are now allowed to wear diamond earrings. Bracelets are in plain, massive gold; brooches exhibit rich artistic work.

Invitations, save to formal balls, promise for the future to be made by word of mouth; the hostess meets you at a theatre or a concert, at an exhibition or a race, and books you accordingly. Occasionally a visiting card, with date of ball inked thereon, may later be sent to the weak memoried.

In the matter of balls, they are the Spaniards who promise to distinguish themselves this season. The king's recovery has filled them with joy.

TIMELY ROMAN TOPICS.

(From the New York Times.)

During the discussion of the budget in the Chamber of Deputies, it came to light that among the expenses of the Department of the Interior was included a sum of sixty thousand dollars devoted to defraying the cost of a tour through Sicily undertaken in October last by Madame Lina Crispi, the wife of the Premier. It appears that she was attended by a retinue of servants and that she would never consent to travel otherwise than by special trains and special steamboats. The members of the Opposition naturally raised the question in the House as to why the National Treasury should be called upon to pay the expenses of the third Madame Crispi's pleasure trips. But the Premier, strong in his command of a Parliamentary majority, disdained to make any explanation concerning such a trifle, and treated the matter with [illegible] Court to the Queen, who views with displeasure the attitude of the Signora Crispi and her extravagances. The past life of the Premier's present wife has been an exceedingly stormy one, and of such a nature that until twelve months ago she was refused admission to Court. Indeed, on the occasion of her first appearance at a royal ball a number of the ladies present left the palace, and there are to this day but very few of the "grandes dames" of Rome who will consent to meet her. It was because the Princess Torlonia refused to recognise her in a drawing room and declined her advances that the Prince was deprived by Premier Crispi of his office as Mayor of the city of Rome.

Economy is the order of the day at the Vatican. All the Pope's horses with the exception of twelve have been sold, together with most of the carriages, harnesses and stable fittings. Of the dozen coal-black steeds that have been retained four are for the personal use of the Pontiff when he takes his drives in the Vatican grounds, two were for the Pope's late brother, the venerable Cardinal Pecci, who resided in the Barberini Palace, and the other six are destined for the Papal physician, Dr. Cecarolli; for the Secretary of State, Cardinal Rampolla; for the Holy Father's confessor, and for the secret almoners. Hitherto forty coachmen were employed, but in future there are only to be eight, at a salary of thirty lire (six dollars) a month each. By means of these reforms in the Vatican stables an economy of sixty thousand dollars per annum has been effected, much to the disgust, however, of the small army of prelates who constitute the Papal Court, and who have hitherto enjoyed the free and indiscriminate use of the Pontiff's horses and carriages.

Among other bits of Vatican gossip, I may state that Leo XIII has given orders that his little army shall adopt helmets in the German style, instead of the French kepi that has been worn until now. His Holiness is also having the Borgia rooms completely restored. The magnificent majolica pavement of these halls was almost entirely destroyed. The Art Museum of Florence has contracted to execute the necessary repairs in the style of the epoch at which the rooms were first constructed. The workmen are also busy in other portions of the Vatican. Several very serious fissures and breaks have become visible in one of the main walls, and the Pope, having personally inspected the damage with his engineer, Count Vespignani, realized that the repairs must be taken in hand at once, and that there was no time to be lost.

The Pope has just lost a magnificent pet parrot named Ara, of which he was particularly fond, and which was probably the only creature that has ever ventured to indulge in ribald and even profane remarks in the presence of His Holiness. Two beautiful pet stags which he was accustomed to feed with his own hands when he took his daily airings in the Vatican grounds have likewise died within the past two weeks, and the Pope is much distressed thereat.

Two beatifications have taken place at the Vatican within the past fortnight. The more important of the two was that of Father Pietro Channel, a missionary who was murdered in Oceania some seventy years ago. These beatifications are most important and solemn functions, and constitute the preliminary to canonization. It is a singularly costly process, for it involves an expense of at least $20,000 in fees and dues, payable by the family of the person to be beatified, or by the religious order to which he or she belonged. Countless signatures, stamps, and seals have to be obtained. Prince Odeschalchi has an entire hall of his great palace here filled from floor to ceiling with documents and parchments relating to the beatification of his ancestor, Pope Innocent XI. In some cases the negotiations on the subject are prolonged for several hundreds of years. Thus, for instance, the application for the beatification of Joan of Arc is still under consideration. The reason for this delay is that a French Bishop, who lived three centuries ago, composed and recited litanies in her honor, and it was held that a breach of ecclesiastical etiquette had been committed in commencing an adoration of the Maid of Orleans before even her beatification had taken place. Another case still pending is that of Marie Christine of Savoy. Her beatification would already have been accorded long ago had not a letter been found among her private correspondance addressed to a friend and describing how she had enjoyed dancing with a certain handsome officer of the guard at a Court ball. This was deemed a sufficient cause to retard for a few hundred years the grant to her of the prefix of 'blessed'.

On the occasion of the martyred missionary's beatification, the great Hall of Canonization, illuminated by thousands of wax candles, was divided into two parts, one being reserved for the Cardinals and the ecclesiastical dignitaries and the other for the German pilgrims now in Rome. In the galleries were the Abbesses of the various convents and the ladies of the diplomatic corps. The procession, on entering the hall, was composed of the Canons of St. Peter's walking two by two, preceded by the Swiss Guards, in full uniform, and followed by the Cardinals to the number of twelve. The latter took their seats to the right of a small dais erected at the end of the hall. A priest then advanced and presented the Papal brief of beatification to the Cardinals, requesting that it should be made public. Cardinal Massala bowed in assent, and Mgr. Russo then mounted a pulpit and read aloud the decree of beatification, which bore the signature of Cardinal Ledochowski, the President of the Board of Apostolic briefs. When the Monsignor had finished reading the document the curtain holding the dais rose and revealed a picture in which amid clouds and stars the figure of the now 'blessed' Father Pietro, arrayed in the habit of a priest, was seen ascending to heaven amid a chorus of angels. The matchless choir of the Sistine Chapel, with its clear soprano voices, then chanted a Te Deum, and the bells of St Peter's rang out a solemn peal. The ceremony was brought to an end by the celebration of a pontifical mass.

Railway Items

The decree published in another column is of the most important nature and should be attentively studied by all interested in Argentine railways. It will probably be read with even more interest in London than here.

The railway-news from La Plata yesterday, independently of the rejection of the tenders for the Western Railway, to which we allude in another column, was that the [illegible] was to be officially inaugurated on April 13th.

Government has issued the anticipated decree appointing Dr. Arroz manager pro tem of the Andine Railway, with his active assistant Mr. J.C. Cortinez as traffic-manager. Most of the staff of the N. R. Board have been named to different posts of trust on the Andine Railway, which is beginning to lift its head again.

Rosario papers state that the Buenos Aires and Rosario Railway Company are making arrangements to purchase a valuable piece of land belonging to Mr. Jewell and known as La Germania.

The traffic from the Interior, we learn, is assuming enormous proportions, and it takes all the ability and energy of the railway managers to face the avalanche coming down in the shape of grain. Under such circumstances, it is astonishing that the number of contre-temps and delays, without which the Inspectors' occupation is gone, is so limited.

The Buenos Aires and Rosario Railway Board have, very properly, protested against the authority recently granted by Government to the narrow guage railway from San Francisco (Santa Fe) to Rosario to construct level crossings across their rails. The danger of such a privilege is obvious and the Minister will, no doubt, cancel the permission so hastily granted.

The Government is being besieged with guarantee accounts at this time of the year. The other day the East Argentine Railway presented theirs for 313,000 dollars gold (for 1889) and this reminds us this account is now lying in the National Railway Board Office awaiting the "conforme" of Dr. Araoz. The latest guarantee account presented is that of the Central Cordoba Railway. The amount is 62,500 dollars gold, due for the half-year ending March 31st of the current year.

Mr. Desiderio Aguiar has filed a claim for 11,270 dollars for 1,127,000 metres of land belonging to him and occupied by the Government for lines and stations on the Andine Railway, between Mendoza and San Juan.

The surveys of the first section of the Villa Jardin Railway are now furnished.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The only lively news yesterday was from Mendoza, where there was a royal ruction, led by a National College teacher, when Governor Juarez of Cordoba arrived there. Revolver shots were fired, but nobody was hit. The affair shows that the political wind is beginning to blow in the Interior.

We hope all our subscribers will take their precautions to keep their hair on during the cyclone predicted and posted to reach the Plate on Thursday next. It is expected to be, like Barnum's Show, the biggest thing yet seen on earth in the cyclone line.

Judging by the notices in the papers, the Holy Week ceremonies in all the churches will be unusually solemn and numerous.

We are requested to announce that at the Athletic Sports of the Flores Collegiate School, on account of the great interest displayed, the Rev. Gybbon Spilsbury has resolved to open two more races for boys of other schools to compete with his own, viz., the Quarter Mile Handicap and the 220 yds, for boys under 14. Thus there will be five races in which outsiders can compete.

More bad news. Charcoal is getting scarce, and a renewal of the fuel famine of last year looks most unpleasantly probable.

The news from Montevideo is that Colonel Klinger has been found guilty of gross brutality to the men of his regiment, and has been deprived of his command. A new loan to fill the deficit in the Budget is mooted. Not a sixpence will be had, as in London they confound Uruguay with this country, and consider both going to the dogs together.

The best-looking auctioneer in the Republic, Mr. Alexander Miñano, of Salta, has arrived from that province. We feel pleasure in saluting him.

Elicegui and Samperio will try conclusions to-day with Portal and Irun at the Fronton Nacional. Great interest is displayed in the matter.

We welcome back to these shores, whose peoples and customs he has described with a master-hand, our distinguished friend and colleague M. Emile Daireaux. Now that his work "La Vie et les Mœurs à La Plata" is going through a second edition, giving to the world a vivid and graphic description of what may now be termed a glorious past, the author has occasion to study the vicissitudes of Argentine prosperity and advance. M. Daireaux intends staying several months in the Plate. This time, his many friends will be glad to hear that his visit will not be of the meteoric duration of his last appearance in our midst.

Owing to an accident, the Rev. Mr. Pinchard will not be able to carry out his arrangements for to-day, and consequently there will be no service at Lomas Church; he hopes, however, to be so far recovered as to be able to resume his usual duties to-morrow, Monday.

The Very Rev. Father Fidelis, Superior of the Passionists, accompanied by Rev. Father Louis, Rev. Father Antonio and brother Epiphano have left this city for Valparaiso, taking the overland route. Father Fidelis expects to return to this country before the 4th May next, on which day the foundation stone of the new Passionist Church in this city will be laid.

Cricket, still cricket. The following team will represent the M.V.C.C. in the return match against the B.A. eleven, to take place at the Blanqueada Cricket Field on Thursday and Friday next. Dr. Ashbridge U.S.N., H. Alexander, G. M. Barrett, P. Charter, J. Harvey, C. Jefferies, H. H. Leng, Mr. Leonard R.N., Mr. Penfold R.N., W. L. Poole, E. M. Stanham and A. Symons.

John Jacob Astor died of heart failure on the 23rd February. He was the wealthiest man in America, and leaves one son, Mr. Wm. Waldorf Astor, the ex-United States Minister to Italy. The fortune of the deceased is calculated at Thirty Million Pounds Sterling. What are our shinplaster fortunes in the Plate, even at their best, compared with this? Even the Duke of Westminster is a pauper compared with Mr. Astor. The question is how much has John Jacob left

Dr. J. Collis Browne's
CHLORODYNE.
THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY GENUINE
Advice to Invalids.—If you wish to obtain quiet refreshing sleep, free from headache, relief from pain and and anguish, to calm and assuage the weary achings of protracted disease, invigorate the nervous media and regulate the circulating systems of the body, you will provide yourself with that marvellous remedy discovered by D. J. Collis Brown, (late Army Medical Staff), to which he gave the name of CHLORODYNE, and which is admitted by the profession to be the most wonderful and valuable remedy ever discovered.
CHLORODYNE is the best remedy known for Coughs, Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma.
CHLORODYNE acts like a charm in Diarrhœa, and is the only specific in Cholera and Dysentery.
CHLORODYNE effectually cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitation, and Spasms.
CHLORODYNE is the only palliative in Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Cancer, Toothache, Meningitis, &c.
From Symes & Co., Pharmaceutical Chemists, Medical Hall, Simla, January 5 1880. To J. T. Davenport, Esq., 33, Great Russel Street, Bloomsbury, London.
Dear Sir,—We embrace this opportunity of congratulating you upon the widespread reputation this justly esteemed medicine, Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne, has earned for itself, not only in Hindostan but all over the East. As a remedy for general utility, we must question whether a better is imported into the country, and we shall be glad to hear of its finding a place in every Anglo-Indian home. The other brands, we are so sorry to say, are now relegated to the native bazaars, and, judging from their sale, we fancy their sojourn there will be but evanescent. We could multiply instances "ad infinitum" of the extraordinary efficacy of Dr. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne in Diarrhœa and Dysentery, Spasms, Cramps, Neuralgia, the Vomiting of Pregnancy, and as a general sedative that have occurred under our personal observation during many years, In Cholera Diarrhœa, and even in the more terrible forms of Cholera itself, we have witnessed its surprisingly controlling power. We have never used any other form of this medicine than Collis Browne's from a firm Conviction that it is decidedly the best, and also from a sense of duty we owe to the profession and the public, as we are of opinion that the substitution of any other than Collis Browne's is a deliberate Breach of Faith on the part of the Chemist to prescribe and Patient alike. We are, Sir, faithfully yours, Symes and Co., Members of the Pharm. Society of Great Britain. The Excellency the Viceroy's Chemists.
Caution.—Vice-Chancellor Sir W. Page Wood stated that Dr J Collis Browne, was, undoubtedly, the Inventor of Chlorodine; that the story of the defendant Freeman was deliberately untrue, which he regretted to say, had been sworn to,—See "The Times," July 13, '864.
Sold in bottles at 1s. 1 1/2d., 2s. 9d., 4s. 6d., and 11s. each. None is genuine without the words "Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne" on the Government stamp. Overwhelming medical testimony accompanies each bottle.
Caution.—Beware of Piracy and Imitations.

of Captain Flanders's services in this respect. The firm of Dreyfus have signed a contract with Captain Flanders to build another light draught steamer for their Black Sea trade, and but for this contract the gallant captain would remain longer in the Plate. As it is, he leaves on Tuesday in the Magdalena for England, but his legion of friends expect to welcome him back to these shores before the end of the year. Meanwhile, we wish the gallant skipper "bon voyage," hoping he will return with several more steamers of the type of the La France and Presidente Carnot.

The tenor of business at the second hour shews that the market must be well nigh liquidated as only about half a million gold was bought for Monday and the rate which had opened at 263 with a tendency that threatened to bound to 270 came as low as 258½ leaving off between buyers and sellers at 259. With regard to failures some names were spoken of, but it was afterwards said that some have arranged and others are arranging, so that taken altogether the situation is not so black as it was painted. National Bank Shares rallied still further and closed for Monday at 119, Catalinas also looking a trifle firmer at 28. A few Constructor Obligations changed hand at 3. In cedulas most of the series shewed a relapse on the closing rates of the morning, but the movement was fairly brisk.

The following is a summary of operations effected this evening at the second ring:—

The s.s. Bellaura, Lamport and Holt line, arrived in Montevideo yesterday from Liverpool with dates to 1st March and 3250 tons of cargo; she will be up to-morrow.

The s.s. Montana arrived in Genoa on 28th inst.; all well on board.

The s.s. Aquila left Genoa yesterday for the Plate with over 700 passengers.

We beg to call attention to the change of address of Mr Robert R Mac Iver as per advertisement.

The Civil Judge, Dr Garay, to-day ordered some property belonging to the Del Cor "Testamentaria" and situated in Calle 25 de Mayo, to be sold. The property is 9 metres front by 37 deep and is officially valued at $567 per square metre.

Messrs Lamport and Holt have arranged a regular monthly service of packets between Rosario and New York, the s.s. Ethiope of 4000 tons which will sail on 10th April opening the service.

The s.s. Rosse sails from the roads to-morrow for La Plata where she will enter port to take part in the inauguration, after which she will get up steam for Rio and New York.

In Jujuy beef the sale is reported effected of 4,500 quintales from the Salto and Guaviyu saladeros at 30 rls. The Luro establishment in Bahia Blanca has sold 500 pipes of cow tallow at $10½ gold per 100 kilos on shore.

According to Rosario advices the Municipal finances of that city are in as great an Augean mess as our own. Our well-informed colleague La Capital says that it takes two years' receipts to pay for one year's service of the Municipal debt, truly a spicy muddle to set straight. Mr Chas. Casado from London has made the Provincial Bank of Santa Fe an advance of £300,000 which was eagerly accepted, and will be turned into paper to strengthen the bank's resources; the exact terms of the business are not known. There are from 15 to 20 vessels in port loading wheat. A Santa Fe syndicate which purchased lands some time ago at a very low price has succeeded in selling them now at 50,000 gold dollars the league.

The meeting of shareholders of the Banco Constructor de La Plata took place yesterday as announced, over 96,000 shares being represented. The President opened proceedings by informing the meeting that owing to the difficult state of the market and the action of the late manager it was not thought advisable by the board to disburse such a large sum as that required to pay the dividend declared at the last meeting; nor did the board think that the circumstances of the bank and market would allow of the calling in of Obligations in exchange for 12 o/o bonds. It was then put to the vote to withdraw 100,000 shares by selling properties with an upset price fixed at the last valuations, and receiving shares at par in payment, and to suspend the payment of the dividend, which was duly carried. The capital when reduced by 100,000 shares will therefore stand at 5 million dollars, which will be a great relief to the market and the bank. Mr. James J. Costa was named syndic and Mr. D. del Campo substitute.

We take the following items from our Montevidean exchanges:—

"It is said that there are now some 30 vessels in this port with cargoes of lumber originally intended for Buenos Aires, but the owners of which have thought it more advisable to order their discharge here.

"On Wednesday there entered this port from up river no less than fifty vessels, 7 steam and 43 sailin . This is perhaps the largest number ever yet entered in one day, and is a proof of the enormous growth of the port traffic.

"We are informed that the Platense Co. has suspended for the present the running of a steamer direct between Montevideo and La Plata.

"El Paysandu states that the Saladero of Sr. Jose C. Larriera on the Argentine coast commenced killing a few days ago, with a large troop of novillos from the camps of Mr. S. Unzue.

"Dr. Campana, the Uruguayan Consul in Genoa, arrived in Montevideo on Wednesday in the Perseo from Europe, and had an interview yesterday with the Minister of Foreign Affairs, Sr. Vidal.

"The Italian packet Vittoria, which arrived to-day, brings the Uruguayan ex-dictator, Colonel Lorenzo Latorre.

"Mr. Augusto Hoffmann, a well-known Montevidean merchant, is leaving for Europe in answer to a telegraphic summons informing him of the serious illness of his son Augusto. We trust he may have a fair-weather voyage, and on his arrival find the patient quite recovered.

"One hundred and twenty immigrants arrived in Montevideo on Wednesday from Buenos Aires."

"On Wednesday J. B. Gomensoro sold the house Camaras 58, 253 yards to J. J. Castro for 11,860 dols.

"M. Garibay sold on Wednesday in the Bolsa, 200 shares of the Banco Trasatlantico at 26 and 30 dols.

"The "Polo" brought from Buenos Ayres yesterday 10,000 dollars to M. Espada."

The steamship Marima is evidently an unlucky craft. Whilst on her way from Rosario to Buenos Ayres, she sank the lighter "La Plata Napoli" on the night of 23rd; later whilst lying at anchor in the Outer Roads, she was run into by the steam-lighter Brenda, and a large hole stove on her port bow, and now to make matters worse when entering the Boca for repairs about 5 p. m. on Thursday, she slightly deviated from her true course and brought up on some sunken piles, having two respectably siz d holes knocked in her bottom. The vessel is laden with wheat, and when yesterday morning lying alongside the steamship Zeta, the divers were at work, her hold were full of water, and her hull was touching the bottom. We imagine that her cargo will be all destroyed!

The Government, actuated by the desire of accomplishing the solution of the sewerage question in Rosario, and seeing the importance of the matter for Rosario, its suburbs and the riverside villages, has, by the Minister of the Interior, to-day issued a decree appointing a commission consisting of Drs Pirovano, Novaro, Diaz, Herrera Vega, Crespo and Pinero and the chemists Arata and Quiroga to enquire into the 2 reports issued by the National Hygienic Department, from the facts therein contained and from any other information they may acquire to study the entire question and make their report to the Minister of the Interior.

The following transactions in real-estate are reported:—

Sarandi 346, between Belgrano and Mpreno, 9x23.84 metres for 12,200 m/n; buyer Mr Dagger.
